

Roundtable on Leveraging Data as a Strategic Asset

PARTICIPATING ORGANIZATIONS

Businesses, Nonprofits, and Academia

Accenture Federal Services, a wholly owned subsidiary of Accenture LLP, delivers federal solutions to clients at defense, intelligence, public safety, civilian and military health organizations.

The Bipartisan Policy Center is a non-profit organization that combines the ideas from both parties to promote health, security, and opportunity for all Americans. BPC drives principled and politically viable policy solutions through the power of analysis, negotiation, and advocacy.

Booz Allen Hamilton is a provider of management consulting, technology, and engineering services to the U.S. government in defense, intelligence, and civil markets, and to major corporations, institutions, and nonprofit organizations.

The Center for Data Innovation is a non-profit, non-partisan research institute, affiliated with the Information Technology and Innovation Foundation, focused on studying the intersection of data, technology, and public policy.

The Center for Open Data Enterprise is an independent nonprofit organization that develops smarter open data strategies for governments, businesses, and other nonprofits by focusing on data users.

The Center for Regional Economic Competitiveness is an independent, non-profit organization founded to provide policy-makers from around the world with the information and technical assistance they need to formulate and execute innovative, regional, job-creating economic strategies.

The City University of New York, Center for Urban Research, Labor Market Information Service helps philanthropy, education, workforce providers, and policy makers make data-driven decisions based on an accurate understanding of the labor market so that they can better help their customers and constituents achieve success.

The Council on Governmental Relations is an association of leading research universities, affiliated medical centers, and independent research institutes.

The Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics is a nonprofit that represents researchers, educators, public health professionals, civic groups, and businesses that rely on the quality and accessibility of statistics that can only be effectively collected by the federal government.

The Data Coalition advocates on behalf of the private sector and the public interest for the publication of government information as standardized, machine-readable data.

The Data @ Work Research Hub is enabling an open 21st century workforce data ecosystem to power 21st century workforce data, by developing datasets, tools, standards, and best practices for publishing data on skills, jobs, and training.

Enigma solves operational challenges by configuring public data, data infrastructure, and analytics to link public datasets with customers internal data.

GeoCollaborate is a patented collaborative software that lets anyone securely author the content of a lead web map, share content, and collaborate in real time or offline with other follower web maps with nothing more than a browser and a network connection.

The George Washington University, Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration is a focal point for public affairs education, research, and public service at the George Washington University.

IBM Center for the Business of Government stimulates research and facilitates discussion of new approaches to improving the effectiveness of government at the federal, state, local, and international levels.

The Internet Association is a trade association that represents global internet companies on matters of public policy.

IQVIA is committed to providing solutions that enable life sciences companies to innovate, maximize opportunities, and drive human health outcomes forward.

The National Bureau of Economic Research is a private, non-profit, non-partisan organization dedicated to conducting economic research and to disseminating research findings among academics, public policy makers, and business professionals.

New York University, Wagner School of Public Policy attempts to prepare public service leaders to translate ideas into actions that have an effective and lasting impact on the public good.

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) helps people make informed healthcare decisions, and improves healthcare delivery and outcomes, by producing and promoting high-integrity, evidence-based information that comes from research guided by patients, caregivers, and the broader healthcare community.

The Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition (SPARC) is a global coalition working to enable the open sharing of research outputs and educational materials in order to democratize access to knowledge, accelerate discovery, and increase the return on our investment in research and education.

The University of Chicago, Center for Data Science and Public Policy is a collaboration between The Harris School of Public Policy and the Computation Institute to further the use of data science in policy research and practice.

The University of Maryland, Geographical Sciences Department seeks to lead the development of academic, educational, and research directions of human and natural systems, land cover/and land use change and geospatial information science, harnessing the integrative nature of geographic science to answer fundamental questions of global importance.

The University of Michigan, Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research advances and expands social and behavioral research, acting as a leader in data stewardship and providing data resources and educational opportunities for present and future generations.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is a business organization representing the interests of more than 3 million businesses of all sizes, sectors, and regions.

Government Agencies & Offices

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau aims to make consumer financial markets work for consumers, responsible providers, and the economy as a whole. They protect consumers from unfair, deceptive, or abusive practices and take action against companies that break the law.

The Internal Revenue Service is the nation's tax collection agency and administers the Internal Revenue Code enacted by Congress.

The State of Maryland, Montgomery County, Data Montgomery's mission is to utilize government data in order to build a 21st century program to better serve the residents of Montgomery County.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is an independent agency of the executive branch of the United States federal government responsible for the civilian space program, as well as aeronautics and aerospace research.

The National Science Foundation's mission is to advance the progress of science, a mission accomplished by funding proposals for research and education made by scientists, engineers, and educators from across the country.

The National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers serves as the premier organization working to bring together state auditors, state comptrollers and state treasurers to cooperatively address government financial management issues.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is the federal executive department responsible for developing and executing federal government policy on farming, agriculture, forestry, and food.

The U.S. Department of Commerce's mission is to create the conditions for economic growth and opportunity. The Department works with businesses, universities, communities, and the Nation's workers to promote job creation, economic growth, sustainable development and improved standards of living for Americans.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis promotes a better understanding of the U.S. economy by providing the most timely, relevant, and accurate economic accounts data in an objective and cost-effective manner.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's mission is to understand and predict changes in the Earth's environment, from the depths of the ocean to the surface of the sun, and to conserve and manage our coastal and marine resources.

The U.S. Census Bureau's mission is to serve as the leading source of quality data about the nation's people and economy. The Census Bureau is overseen by the Economics and Statistics Administration.

The U.S. Department of Defense's mission is to provide the military forces needed to deter war and to protect the security of our country.

The U.S. Department of Education's mission is to promote student achievement and preparation for global competitiveness by fostering educational excellence and ensuring equal access.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is a cabinet-level department of the U.S. federal government with the goal of protecting the health of all Americans and providing essential human services.

The U.S. Department of Justice's mission is to enforce the law and defend the interests of the United States according to the law; to ensure public safety against threats foreign and domestic; to provide federal leadership in preventing and controlling crime; to seek just punishment for those guilty of unlawful behavior; and to ensure fair and impartial administration of justice for all Americans.

The U.S. Department of Labor's mission is to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners, job seekers, and retirees of the United States; improve working conditions; advance opportunities for profitable employment; and assure work-related benefits and rights.

The U.S. Department of Transportation's mission is to ensure a fast, safe, efficient, accessible and convenient transportation system that meets national interests and enhances the quality of life of the American people, today and into the future.

The U.S. Department of the Treasury's mission is to maintain a strong economy and create economic and job opportunities by promoting the conditions that enable economic growth and stability at home and abroad, strengthen national security by combating threats and protecting the integrity of the financial system, and manage the U.S. Government's finances and resources effectively.

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs' mission is to fulfill the promise of President Lincoln to the Veterans of the United States armed services, which is to provide Healthcare to those who have served, and to their families.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's mission is protect human health and the environment by developing and enforcing regulations, giving grants, studying environmental issues, sponsoring partnerships, teaching people about the environment, and publishing information.

The U.S. General Services Administration's mission is to deliver the best value in real estate, acquisition, and technology services to government and the American people.

The U.S. Geological Survey is a science organization that provides impartial information on the health of our ecosystems and environment, the natural hazards that threaten us, the natural resources we rely on, the impacts of climate and land-use change, and the core science systems that help us provide timely, relevant, and useable information.

The U.S. Office of Personnel Management directs human resources and employee management services, administers retirement benefits, manages healthcare and insurance programs, oversees merit-based and inclusive hiring into the civil service, and provides a secure employment process.

The U.S. Small Business Administration aids, counsels, assists and protects the interests of small business concerns, to preserve free competitive enterprise and to maintain and strengthen the overall economy of our nation.

The White House, Office of Management and Budget's mission is to serve the President of the United States in implementing his vision across the Executive Branch.

The White House, Office of Science and Technology Policy advises the President on the effects of science and technology on domestic and international affairs. It also develops, coordinates, and implements science and technology policies and budgets.