

Roundtable on Innovating with Federal Spending Data PARTICIPATING ORGANIZATIONS

BUSINESSES

Accenture Federal Services, a wholly owned subsidiary of Accenture LLP, delivers federal solutions to clients at defense, intelligence, public safety, civilian and military health organizations.

Bloomberg is a global business and financial information and news firm that connects decision-makers to a dynamic network of information, people and ideas.

Booz Allen Hamilton is a provider of management consulting, technology, and engineering services to the U.S. government in defense, intelligence, and civil markets, and to major corporations, institutions, and nonprofit organizations.

eCivis is a SaaS grant management software system used by 1000+ state, local and tribal governments in 45 states across the United States.

Experian assists lenders in managing consumer credit risk and empowers consumers to understand and responsibly use credit in their financial lives.

Deloitte provides audit & assurance, consulting, risk and financial advisory, risk management, tax, and related services to select clients throughout the world.

Govini is a leading business intelligence platform for companies that sell to the public sector.

Kearney & Company helps the federal government improve its financial operations' overall effectiveness and efficiency; increase its level of accountability and compliance with laws, regulations, and guidance; and protect its funds from fraud, waste, and abuse.

Teradata works with leading businesses in over 75 countries worldwide to deliver better business outcomes through technology-enabled solutions in areas ranging from operational excellence and asset optimization, to customer experience and product innovation, to finance transformation and risk mitigation.

NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATIONS

The Bipartisan Policy Center is a non-profit organization that combines the best ideas from both parties to promote health, security, and opportunity for all Americans.

The Center on Budget and Policy Priorities is dedicated to pursuing federal and state policies designed to reduce poverty and inequality and restore fiscal responsibility in equitable and effective ways.

The Center for Data Innovation formulates and promotes pragmatic public policies designed to maximize the benefits of data-driven innovation in the public and private sectors.

The Center for Open Data Enterprise is an independent nonprofit organization that develops smarter open data strategies for governments, businesses, and other nonprofits by focusing on data users.

The Center for Strategic and International Studies is a bipartisan, nonprofit policy research organization dedicated to providing strategic insights and policy solutions to help decision makers chart a course toward a better world.

The Data Coalition advocates on behalf of the private sector and the public interest for the publication of government information as standardized, machine-readable data.

The Data Foundation is an industry-focused open data research organization.

The Federal Demonstration Partnership is an association of federal agencies, academic research institutions with administrative, faculty and technical representation, and research policy organizations that work to streamline the administration of federally sponsored research.

The Open Contracting Partnership is a collaboration of governments, companies, technologists and civil society that works to open up public contracting through disclosure, data and engagement so that the huge sums of money involved are spent honestly, fairly, and effectively.

The Pew Charitable Trusts is a global nongovernmental organization that seeks to improve public policy, inform the public, and invigorate civic life.

The Professional Services Council is a national trade association of the government technology and professional services industry.

The National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers works to bring together state auditors, state comptrollers and state treasurers to cooperatively address government financial management issues.

The National Governors Association is a bipartisan organization of the nation's governors that promotes visionary state leadership, shares best practices, and speaks with a collective voice on national policy.

ACADEMIA

George Washington University, centered in the national and international crossroads of Washington, D.C., commits itself to excellence in the creation, dissemination, and application of knowledge.

Johns Hopkins University, Center for Government Excellence successfully helps governments effectively use data in order to make informed decisions on services that improve people's lives.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology seeks to advance knowledge and educate students in science, technology and other areas of scholarship that will best serve the nation and the world in the 21st century.

The University of Washington educates a diverse student body to become responsible global citizens and future leaders through a challenging learning environment informed by cutting-edge scholarship.

GOVERNMENT AGENCIES & OFFICES

The National Science Foundation's mission is to advance the progress of science, a mission accomplished by funding proposals for research and education made by scientists, engineers, and educators from across the country.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is the federal executive department responsible for developing and executing federal government policy on farming, agriculture, forestry and food.

The U.S. Department of Commerce's mission is to create the conditions for economic growth and opportunity. The Department works with businesses, universities, communities, and the Nation's workers to promote job creation, economic growth, sustainable development and improved standards of living for Americans.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is a cabinet-level department of the U.S. federal government with the goal of protecting the health of all Americans and providing essential human services.

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's mission is to ensure a homeland that is safe, secure, and resilient against terrorism and other hazards.

The U.S. Department of the Treasury's mission is to maintain a strong economy and create economic and job opportunities by promoting the conditions that enable economic growth and stability at home and abroad, strengthen national security by combating threats and protecting the integrity of the financial system, and manage the U.S. Government's finances and resources effectively.

The U.S. General Services Administration's mission is to deliver the best value in real estate, acquisition, and technology services to government and the American people.

The White House, Office of Management and Budget's mission is to serve the President of the United States in implementing his vision across the Executive Branch.